PRICE, THREE CENTS

ARMY CHIEF WILL SPEAK AT BANQUET

General Booth, Second Ranking Officer of U. S. Army, to Be Here.

IS MONDAY AT 6.45

What place has militarism in the world today? What is the present status and future outlook for the armed forces of the United States? Will disarmament proceed until armies and navies are things of an archaic past? Such are the questions on which light will be shed by Major General Booth, assistant chief of staff of the United States Army, who will come direct from Washington to speak at the annual banquet of the Harold D. Speakman Post, of the American Legion, on Monday night in the legion room of the Community Building.

General Booth, the second ranking officer in the American army at the present time, is not the only speaker of importance at this affair which promises to afford enjoyment in unalloyed fashion. Senator George Wharton Pepper, well-known in the borough from his appearance here at the time of the testimonial to C. Howard McCarter, is practically certain to be in attendance. Not content with two such celebrities, the post went to work and secured Jack Kelly, twice Olympic champion in single sculls. Tickets for the banquet are on sale by William H. Durbin, of Durbin and Howard, 31 North Narberth avenue. Since Armistice Day this year falls on Sunday and is celebrated on Monday, the banquet will take place on Monday. The place is the Community Building on Windsor avenue.

The Horn & Hardart radio broadcasting orchestra will provide the music at the affair, and Commander W. Russell Green, will act as toastmaster.

A dinner prepared by William T. McIntyre, famed Main Line caterer, good music and exceptional speakers, the combination should be well nigh irresistible. Don't forget the date, November 12, at 6.45 P. M.

HART TO ADDRESS ARMISTICE SERVICE

Union Celebration Sunday Night at Theater Sponsored by Post.

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

The special Armistice Day service sponsored by the Harold D. Speakman Post of the American Legion, to be held at the Narberth Theater on Sunday evening, November 11, at 7.45 P. M. will take the place of the usual Sunday evening services of the various Protestant churches of Narberth.

The feature of the celebration is an address by the Rev. John R. Hart, Jr., chaplain of the University of Pennsylvania. Also participating in the service will be several of the scouts, and soloists.

Heretofore the local Legion Post has attended a morning service of one of the various churches, and the union community service this year is somewhat of an innovation. With such a well-liked man as the Rev. Jack Hart on hand the success of the celebration is practically assured.

The complete program follows: Organ prelude; song service led by Mr. Bruce Carey; Invocation by Rev. John Van Ness; tenor solo, "The Trumpeter." Mr. Henry G. Sparks; Scripture read by Rev. Cletus Senft; prayer offered by Rev. Samuel MacAdams (preceded by one minute's silence for the Gold Star Mothers present); offering for the disabled veterans, soprano solo, "There Is No Death," Mrs. John Gilbert; hymn; address by the Rev. John R. Hart, Jr., chaplain of the University of Pennsylvania; closing hymn; benediction; taps blown by the Boy Scouts; organ postlude.

Was Well Attended

The Republican rally held last Monday at Elm Hall was attended by over 100 enthusiastic women voters. Mrs. H. A. Peebles, of Cynwyd, spoke on the amendments and the importance of voting early. Mrs. George Horace Lorimer gave by request an informal talk about the Hoovers

Amendment Vote

Narberth voters returned a favorable verdict on 11 of the 14 amendments to the State Constitution. The total vote on each amendment for the three election districts follows:

ELECTION RETURNS GATHERED RAPIDLY

Livingston Publishing Company Supplied Complete Local Results.

CALLS POURED IN FAST

Metropolitan newspaper service was available on the Main Line Tuesday night, when the Livingston Publishing Company maintained a complete election information bureau at its Ardmore office.

When it was realized that interest in Lower Merion and Narberth results was running high, a small notice was published last week that information would be given to any resident calling the two phone numbers at the office of the Main Line.

That the offer had been read and observed became evident early in the evening when hundreds of calls began to pour in from all parts of the township and borough, and even from other points in the county.

A staff of 10 was maintained throughout the evening. Two operators were on duty at the office handling the inquiries, and eight reporters were stationed at the 16 polling places. The count was sent by radio and telephone as soon as possible.

At 8.20 the first district tally was sent in, Narberth, No. 3, and others were made available quickly thereafter. Shortly before 9 the election boards, having finished supper and stacked the ballots according to party, were able to give estimates of the results. These were quickly phoned in. By 10.15 the final counts for all districts and the borough were being given out from the Ardmore office. The service was continued until 1 A. M. and all day Wednesday.

The response to this innovation exceeded all expectations, and subscribers to the Main Line, the News of Bala-Cynwyd and Our Town depended on the service for local totals—many for national flashes, which were kept up to the minute. The Livingston Publishing Company was from 30 minutes to an hour ahead of the rest of the township and county in tabulating the results.

The success of the plan could have been possible only by the availability of a large and well-trained staff. The resources of three suburban papers combined under one management gave each paper's readers instant and accurate information.

This same organization, functioning weekly on the reporting of news for the three community weeklies has resulted in a reporting of civic and political news which newspaper experts have commended as one of the most complete offered by weekly papers anywhere.

W. H. M. S. of M. E. C.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church will meet at the home of Mrs. C. Y. Jenkins, Old Gulph road, on Thursday, November 15, at 2.30 P. M. Mrs. Ada V. Compton, of Philadelphia, will speak at the annual thank offering service of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church on Sunday, November 12, at 11 A. M.

Talks on Drama

All Narberth women are invited to hear Walter Pritchard Eaton, eminent author and critic, who will speak on Shaw and O'Neill and the modern drama at the Hannah Penn House, Seventeenth and Locust streets, Philadelphia, on Monday, November 12, at 3 P. M. This is sponsored by the Republican women of Pennsylvania.

RED CROSS DRIVE OPENS ON SUNDAY

Local Headquarters to Be Opened at 100 Narberth Avenue.

MANY WORKERS READY

The annual roll call of the American Red Cross in Narberth, will be directed by the Women's Community Club and assisted by other interested citizens.

Narberth hopes to go over the top with the other Main Line towns, hence subscriptions should be made through local solicitors. Your membership keeps the local and national organization alive and active, for peace-time activities make it possible to give relief to such disasters as the Mississippi flood and the Florida and Porto Rico devastations.

The campaign opens on Armistice Day, November 11 and runs until Thanksgiving Day, November 29. This year there will be a local headquarters maintained in the vacant store on Narberth avenue, used recently as Hoover headquarters. Through the courtesy of W. D. Smedley this store will be used as an operating base by the Red Cross supplying information concerning its activities. Incidentally memberships may be left there if more convenient to the subscriber. This, however, is not the object of the room, and patrons will not be urged to subscribe when calling. This room will be open daily during the campaign from 11 A. M. to 6 P. M., except Sundays and Thanksgiving.

The territory known as Anthwyn Farms, which lives geographically so close to Narberth, will be covered by the Narberth solicitors. This division is under the personal direction of Mrs. W. C. Newman. The northside under Mrs. Harry A. Jacobs and Mrs. L. Parker Miller and the south side under Mrs. Nelson C. Rowley. Narbrook Park will be in charge of Mr. George A. McElroy and the business section of the town falls to Mr. Robley A. Warner.

Following is given the streets with the names of their solicitors: Anthwyn Farms section—Avon road, Rockavon road and Iona avenue by Mrs. A. Vogel, Mrs. C. R. Custer, Mrs. F. E. Channess and Mrs. Miesner; Merwyn road and Rockland avenue, Mrs. Earl Achenbach, Hampden avenue; Mrs. W. N. Mills, Haverford avenue; Mrs. J. J. Fenderson and Mrs. William Ballingall, and Anthwyn road, Mrs. Clark H. Morian and Mrs. W. C. Newman.

The north side division: Wynne avenue, Wynnewood, Court, Wyndale avenue and Shady lane, by Mrs. Harold C. Fenna; Elm Terrace, Stepmey Place, Miss Virginia Douglass and Miss Ella Ross; Homewood and Beechwood avenues Sabine to Dudley including the Parkview and Berkley Apartments, Mrs. H. G. Reeves; Conway avenue, Mrs. H. Nordblom; Dudley avenue, Mrs. Horace B. Murray, Miss Jane Murray and Miss Dorothy Miller; Essex avenue, Mrs. J. Lloyd Rick-

Nine Narberth Residents Listed in 1928-29 Edition of "Who's Who"

Incorporated in the recently published 1928-1929 volume of "Who's Who in America" are the names of nine Narberth residents, which is a gain of two over the edition of 1926-27. The ratio of the number represented in the new edition (28,805) to the total population of the United States is virtually one out of four thousand. Taking the borough's population as 8000 this would imply that Narberth should have at least two representatives in this fat red book, a copy of which now reposes on the shelves of the Narberth Library. Instead of two, there are nine local celebrities, one of whom moved away recently however and two of whom live on State road back of the borough, but are listed under Narberth.

Instead of naming the local celebrities outright and having done with it, we propose to whet the curiosity of Our Town's readers and see how well they are acquainted with their fellow-townsmen. Guesses are in order.

As a hint we give the occupation of Narberth's representatives as they are listed in "Who's Who." They are as follows: psychologist, editor,

MACK COACH GIVES BASEBALL HISTORY

High School Boys Are Guests at Balcynar Rotary Club Meeting.

IRA THOMAS SPEAKER

With Ira Thomas as speaker of the evening, and the largest attendance in its history, the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club devoted its meeting Monday night to boy work.

In addition to local members, 36 members of the Philadelphia Club were visitors. Most of these live in the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth district. Present also were a number of Lower Merion High school boys, Principal C. B. Penypacker, Coach William H. Anderson and School Board Member E. E. Burlingame.

Baseball was the subject of the talk of the evening, delivered by no less a figure in the world of the national sport than Ira Thomas, scout and coach of the Athletics, long a catcher for the Yankees, Detroit and the A's.

The history of the game was reviewed, with the various opinions of its origin. One of these views, he said, traces baseball to the days of early English games. Another puts the germ of the modern sport in "one old cat, played in Colonial Times."

Baseball as such, and under that name, originated in 1836, the speaker said. In that year Abner Doubleday introduced the game in a private school, using 11 players to a side. Doubleday later joined the army and introduced the sport there, and the soldiers carried the idea over the country when they returned home.

Rivalries soon sprung up and semi-professional teams were formed. In 1871 the first professional league was established. From that time the growth of the sport has been great, both in number of teams and in national interest.

No breath of corruption marred the sport, Mr. Thomas said, until 1919, when the Chicago scandal broke out. The speaker graphically depicted the disgrace of the players who failed to play square and drew a sharp lesson from the incident.

"We professional players try to keep the game as clean as we can," he said.

Polls Swamped by Record Vote as Hoover Sweeps Through by 7309 to Carry Every One of 16 Districts

Sweeping through the Main Line Herbert Hoover and the Republican State and county ticket carried everyone of the 16 election districts in Lower Merion and Narberth at the Presidential election Tuesday.

Going out into the remaining 149 of Montgomery county's 165 districts, the slate carried through to a plurality of over 52,000, 12,000 more than the pre-election estimates of Secretary of Commonwealth, Charles Johnson, county Republican leader.

Governor Smith, heading the Democratic national ticket, collected more votes in Lower Merion-Narberth and in the county than ever accorded a member of his political faith here in a straight party fight, and carried the State and county slate with him, but he succeeded in hardly more than denting the usual Republican majorities.

The Main Line turned out as it never has before for a Democratic Presidential candidate, but Smith's total shrunk into comparative insignificance after the avalanche of Hoover votes had flowed into the ballot box. The count was approximately three to one here for the Republican Presidential elect.

Thirteen districts in Lower Merion gave Hoover 9615 votes to 3590 for Smith, a plurality of 6025. Three districts of Narberth polled 1823 for Hoover to 539 for Smith, a plurality of 1284.

The combined vote of Lower Merion and Narberth was Hoover, 11,139; Smith, 129, a Hoover plurality of 7309. The majority was but slightly below the figure set by Republican organization leaders here last week in pre-election estimates. They made a claim of 8500 for Hoover in the township and the borough, a plurality of 7000 in Lower Merion Election boards in the 16 Lower Merion and Narberth districts were swamped in the election Tuesday by the greatest outpouring of voters ever seen in the township and borough. All previous records for high votes were smashed.

Never before has there been such overwhelming interest here in a political campaign; never before such scenes at the polls. Lines of voters blocks in length, invalids hobbling up to election booths on crutches, octogenarians casting the first votes of their lives, these were new experiences for the Main Line, but all were to be witnessed at many a poll in the township and the borough. It was eloquent testimonial to issues and a personality that made one Presidential election a dominating event. The Brown Derby went down to smashing defeat, but it brought citizens to the polls who had never seen them before.

Records went by the board when Lower Merion and Narberth voted 15,567 out of a total registration of about 19,000. This was an average of 82 per cent, of the enrollment in the township and the borough.

Three Ardmore districts polled a total vote of 4312 out of a registration of 5242 and new records for high votes were set up in other precincts in the township and borough. Narberth District, No. 2, had the best individual showing of the 16 divisions here. It polled 85 per cent, of its total registered vote, or 987 out of a possible 1163.

The voting began with a rush in most of the polling places as soon as they opened at 7 A. M., and continued without let-up throughout the day. Long lines were in evidence at many particularly so in the big South Ardmore, North Ardmore and Cynwyd voting places. Occasionally these

Mothers' Council Plans Interesting Meeting

November is a most important month to parents and teachers since it brings to us education week, children's book week and teachers' day. It seems quite fitting, therefore, that the next meeting of the Mothers' Council, which occurs on the third Monday evening of the month, should be in charge of the faculty of our school. Both mothers and fathers are urged to be present in order that they may understand the working of our school as demonstrated by our teachers.

The award of certificates and prizes to the members of the Vacation Reading Club will be made at this meeting. Also the reports will be made by our delegates who went to the State convention at Easton.

It promises to be a most interesting meeting and we are mentioning it early so that every interested parent will be sure and save the evening of November 19 for the Mothers' Council.

Narberth Plays Host

Montgomery county firemen were guests of the Narberth Fire Company at their November meeting, held Saturday evening in the borough town hall. Tristan duMarais, president of the Narberth company, welcomed the visiting firemen, who represented 24 companies throughout the county. Reports on fire prevention measures featured the meeting. Fire losses in Montgomery during October were reported at $11,972; insurance, $14,600; property endangered, $72,500.

D. A. R. to Meet

The Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter, N. S. D. A. R., will hold its stated meeting Saturday, November 10, at 2.30 P. M. at the home of Mrs. C. A. Farmer, 424 Woodbine avenue, Narberth. Mrs. Dorothy Evans Copp, State chairman of national defense, will be the guest of the chapter and will speak on "National Defense." Mrs. Samuel Z. Shope, president National Daughters of 1812, will also address the chapter.

SCHEDULE LIBRARY MEET FOR CYNWYD

Main Line Representatives Will Attend Bi-County Gathering.

TO BE ON WEDNESDAY

A Philadelphia and Montgomery county district libraries meeting will be held in the Bala-Cynwyd Memorial Library, at Levering Mill road and Bala avenue, Cynwyd, on Wednesday. It is to be an all-day meeting, and lunch will be served in the Woman's Clubhouse, next door. Persons desiring luncheon are requested to notify Mrs. How, librarian, not later than Monday, November 12.

The meeting will start at 10.15 o'clock, with the report of the Pennsylvania Library Association meeting at Uniontown, given by Miss Evelyn L. Matthews, of State Library.

Recent books of first interest to the library will be discussed, and Mrs. Robert Fellows Wood, of the Narberth Library, will talk of Children's Book-Week, whose tenth anniversary will be celebrated all next week.

This will be followed by a round table discussion, subject: "How does your library celebrate 'Children's Week'?"

Discussion of recent happenings in the library and reports of progress in the past year will conclude the morning session.

The meeting will adjourn to the Woman's Clubhouse for luncheon, and the afternoon session will also be held there on account of the library's service to the public in the afternoon.

"The County Library" will furnish the subject of a talk by Miss Mary F. Reutter, of the Pottstown Library; Mrs. Anne Howland, director of the Drexel Institute Library, is to discuss "Adult Education in the Library," and Mrs. Margaret Hess, of the Wayne Library, will speak about "Story-Telling in the Library."

These meetings of the district libraries are held three times a came difficult to keep pace with the growth of the department during the year that followed.

This method of observing Children's Book Week proved to be so satisfactory that it has become each year a distinctive feature of the library work during the fall months. In accordance with this custom about 70 new books, chosen with respect to literary value, to illustration and to binding, as well as to their appeal to children, will be displayed at the library each day of the coming week. This will give adults and children opportunity to examine the books at their leisure before they are placed on the regular shelves, and at the same time will provide suggestions for Christmas gifts.

Also during the week, the Narberth Theater will run what is known in movie parlance as a "trailer," that is, a series of short announcement films, in this case explaining Children's Book Week, and inviting all residents of the vicinity to visit the library for the purpose of inspecting its special displays, and at the same time to become familiar with its year-round facilities.

CHILDREN'S BOOK WEEK

November 11 Begins the Sixth Observance at Narberth Library.

Although Children's Book Week, which begins this year on November 11, will be observed throughout the country for the tenth time, the local library has had opportunity to join in only the last six observances. It was not until the second year of its existence that the Narberth library started its children's department, and not until the year following that it was able to make any public display to express its keen interest in books for the young girls and boys.

In the fall of 1922, however, the library saved some of its always limited funds and displayed during Children's Book Week the new books, especially purchased for the juvenile department. Due to the nationwide emphasis placed on children's books for several years, publishers, authors, and illustrators had united to produce more charming books for children than had ever been produced at one time before. Such books as the local library displayed made an immediate appeal to adults as well as to children, arousing such enthusiasm that it be-

Community Club Notes

At the regular meeting of the Women's Community Club to be held Tuesday, November 13, in the Club room at Elm Hall Mrs. W. C. Newman will talk a bit about the "fall fashions in books." She will review the outstanding books of the moment.

Miss Vivian Schaal will speak on the preparation and preservation of foods. In her demonstration she will use electricity and will serve some of the dishes she prepares. Any one who has seen the deft fingers of Miss Schaal as she works and tells her listeners how to make the attractive menus she serves are assured of a pleasant and instructive afternoon.

Several of the Women's Community Club members are planning to attend the south Eastern District meeting of Club Institutes at Pottstown on November 14. This is an all day meeting and the Pottstown Century Club will be hostess. The Elks Home will be the scene of the meeting. And on November 15, at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Mr. John Miles Day will conduct an all day and evening meeting on "The Cause and Cure of War" some eminent speakers are scheduled on the program and Mrs. John A. Frick, State President of the Federated Clubs of Pennsylvania will preside at the dinner in the evening.

AT THE THEATRE

"The Garden of Eden," one of the most successful plays of the season in London, Berlin and in New York, will come to the screen of the Narberth Theatre tonight and Saturday with Corinne Griffith in the stellar role; and it was due entirely to Miss Griffith's foresight that this popular hit reached the silver sheet almost simultaneously with its stage version.

When abroad last summer the star saw the play in Germany and approved it so heartily that the rights were immediately obtained. Thus Miss Griffith was well into production with her picture before the play had been produced in London or New York.

Her supporting cast contains such names as Charles Ray, Louise Dresser, Lowell Sherman, Edward Martindel, Maude George and Hank Mann. The star takes the part of Toni Lebrun, a proud, unsophisticated little singer in a Budapest cafe, who enters society at Monte Carlo as the "daughter" of a Baroness, and who exists haughtily from her own wedding to a wealthy and socially prominent youth, clad only in her "unmentionables."

Beautiful Irish romance and a mother's inherent love for her only son gave John Ford some marvelous opportunities for fine drama in "Mother Machree," Fox Films' version of Rida Johnson Young's dramatic story which launches a three-day run at the Narberth Theatre next Monday. Belle Bennett has the featured role.

Ford, who gave the photoplay world "The Iron Horse" and "3 Bad Men," has made the most intelligent use of the Irish background, rich in screen values, and it is said that Miss Bennett has brought to her part a tenderness seldom seen in motion picture endeavor. Surrounded by an all-star cast she eclipses her work in "Stella Dallas" and her recent performance in "The Lily."

Cast with Miss Bennett are many of screenland's favorites. Ethel Clayton is cast as Mrs. Cutting; Victor McLaglen, who played Captain Flagg "In What Price Glory," is seen as the Kilkenny Giant, and Ted McNamara plays the part of the Harpist of Wexford.

"Plastered in Paris," Thursday, Friday and Saturday, at the Narberth Theatre, starts with a "flash" sequence of world war trenches and thereafter leaves the great conflict "flat."

The trench scenes show Sammy Cohen as the dynamic little Jewish comedian where he gets a dose of poison gas and hospital surgeons decree that thereafter he will be a kleptomaniac.

Ten years later they are delegates to the American Legion convention in Paris and Pennick seeks a cure by a famous French specialist for his friend Sammy.

In a series of hilarious "shots" they are shown being "shanghaied" into membership in the French Foreign Legion and a subsequent campaign against a band of Riffs during which the funsters rescue two fair maidens and incidentally "kidnap" the desert sheik's entire harem.

COMING TO HIMSELF

In a discussion between two colored gentlemen as to what was meant where it said, "The prodigal son came to himself," one argued that it meant that he pawned his overcoat then his coat, then his shirt, next his undershirt and then it was that he came to himself.

One by one through one process and another, people are coming to themselves and realizing that there is great economy in our co-operative buying organization which reacts to the benefit of our patrons. As to those not numbered among our customers and who will experiment with a trial order, we will gladly receive their business and show them every advantage, every courtesy, every convenience and every economy that our system affords.

We have fully come to ourselves in the realization that it is only through honorable and square dealings, satisfactory and guaranteed qualities and prices that we shall be able to command your confidence and support.

AT VALLEY FORGE MILITARY ACADEMY

Cadet-Major Parker Tells of One Day in Life of Cadet at Institution.

Cadet-Major R. A. Parker has sent the following interesting account of a cadet's daily life at the Valley Forge Military Academy:

"In limousines, 'flivvers,' and afoot; all day long the new cadets poured into the building that was to be their home—strapping big fellows, lugging heavy bags; shy young hopefuls, led by doting mothers or proud fathers; large and small, young and old—every one to become part of a mighty educational system. They receive a military welcome—seemingly a bit rough, yet producing results as nothing else can.

"After saying their fond farewells they are assigned a room, and start on the first lap of the school year. At this point the veteran cadets step into the picture with a 'bang.' Bearing themselves with pride, this old guard makes the recruits 'snap into it.' 'Get those shoulders back.' 'Stick 'at chest out!' 'Keep your chin up!' 'This is a military school; not a girls' seminary!' 'Keep awake, there!' These are only a few of the general hints that are handed out.

"Both the pampered and the poor receive the same remarks. Side by side, they execute right face, both properly and improperly. Side by side they parade while the band blares out a 'snappy' march. Side by side they stand at retreat, as the colors drop slowly, gracefully toward the earth.

"Drooping bodies are turned into muscular, rigid forms. With a stout heart and a clear brain, they soon pick up the spirit of the Academy, which is the spirit of the Corps; that spirit that makes them attempt to attain perfection; that spirit that despises all cheats and thieves, and all those upon whose honor the Corps cannot rely; that spirit that scorns quitters and ignores slackers; that spirit that demands that every man do his share; that spirit that continues to cheer to the end—win or lose, live or die.

"What better location is there for a fine military school than right here? Close by are memories of the sacrifice and suffering of the Soldiers of Freedom. What more inspiration is needed than the thoughts of the mighty Washington at Valley Forge? History has been made, and is being made, at our very doors. It is inevitable that before many years elapse Valley Forge shall be the greatest school in the East. And we, the first to wear the cadet gray, are proud of the fact that we are helping to build a great institution.

"And in closing let me say that any school founded on the principles on which this is founded, boasting a faculty as efficient as this one is, and possessing as fine a body of cadets as this one does, cannot, and will not, face the scythe of failure. Is it any wonder that the Academy is already larger than many schools that have been in existence twenty or thirty years?"

WEEKLY HEALTH TALK

"Swimming is one of the best forms of exercise. It brings into play more muscles at a time than perhaps does any other form of physical activity. Until recent years this helpful recreation was largely limited to the summer season. And for grown-ups, even then, meant only the occasional dip during the two-week vacation. Latterly, however, the indoor pool has gained wide popularity and the seasonal restrictions to swimming have consequently in large measure vanished," says Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health.

"Many mature people could, with much improvement to their general well-being, regularly patronize the indoor pool. Assuming that a physical examination has not brought to light anything to prevent exercise of this character, the swimming pool, if properly and reasonably used, can be of decided benefit not only to the younger people but to those of middle age also.

"In this connection, however, there are certain sensible rules the observance of which will limit disease hazards and result in a maximum benefit. They follow:

"1. Choose a pool where cleanli-

Keeping Trade at Home.

It can be shown by logical arguments that it pays people to buy their supplies in their home towns, at least when the stores are as good as they are in the city, as a matter of public spirit if for nothing else. But some people are not moved by the public spirit motive. To get the trade of that element, the business men have to resort to the means by which the mail order houses and the big city department stores get trade from near and far, and that is by thorough advertising of what they have to sell. If people can be persuaded to go considerable distances at some inconvenience in order to trade, it should be easily possible to persuade them to buy at home, if the home store values are fully made known to them.

ness is a prime consideration of the management.

"2. Avoid stale water pools, or those in which the water is not adequately protected by chlorination and constant flow.

"3. Use your own bathing suit, if it has been known to pass on serious communicable diseases.

"4. Keep your enthusiasm in check. It is exceedingly easy to over-exert. Twenty to thirty minutes is the time-limit for the best physical results.

"5. Swimming pools, of necessity, are warm places. Therefore, do not rush out into the cold outside air when in an overheated condition. The cool or the cold shower, depending upon your taste and resistance, following the dip is absolutely essential.

"6. Never invade a pool if you are suffering from a cold or a catarrhal infection. Blowing the nose and freeing the head of water makes it possible for the healthy fellow to become thus infected by direct contact."

"STORY OF LENAPE TRAILS"

Correspondent Gives High Praise to Book from Pen of Major Lisle.

Charles Aiken, of the Bridgman School, Shirley Center, Mass., in a communication in the West Chester Local News, writes as follows of "Lenape Trails," written by Major Clifton Lisle, of Wayne:

May I call the attention of librarians, teachers in the Junior and Senior High Schools, leaders of Scout troops, and all those who are interested in early Pennsylvania history, to a book recently published by Harcourt, Brace & Co., called "Lenape Trails."

Chester county should be especially interested in the author of this book, Clifton Lisle, Major-in-command of its own regiment, 1st Battalion, 316th Infantry, Organized Reserves, Graduating from the University of Pennsylvania with Phi Beta Kappa honors. Major Lisle went overseas and was twice cited for gallantry in action in the Meuse-Argonne offensive.

Even before his graduation from college, Major Lisle was a Chester county official in Scout work, and is now Scoutmaster of Troop 1, Paoli (Wayne Boy Scouts). He has been a member of the Chester County Boy Scout Council since its foundation.

The author's earlier books, "Diamond Rock," the best boy's story of "Valley Forge" yet written, and "Sandy Flash" (a picturesque account of Chester county's most famous outlaw), perhaps the most striking picture of Chester county in historical fiction since Bayard Taylor's "Story of Kennett," have had a wide popularity.

A modern story of bootlegging adventure in the Alleghenies, entitled "Saddle Bags," was the author's third successful production.

In "Lenape Trails," which shows the result of even more intensive historic research than do its predecessors, two Quaker lads come to Pennsylvania in 1724 to take up an inherited claim of land in Willistown. In following their experiences with pirates and Indians, the reader gains an accurate and detailed picture of the Philadelphia of that day, also of every section of Chester county and as far west as the Susquehanna. There is a clever plot; and, from his Scout lore, Major Lisle gives valuable information concerning woodcraft and out-door life in general. To an old Chester countian, his pictures of her hills and valleys recalls happy experiences of boyhood days.

Fellowship Supper

A delicious supper is to be had Sunday evening at All Saints' Church Parish house, through the efforts and for the benefit of the Fellowship of the church. A speaker has also been engaged who will give a short talk on athletics. The admission is 35 cents and is payable at the door. There will be plenty to eat for everybody, so don't fail to come. Mr. Albert Adam, coach of Lower Merion football team, will be the speaker next week. A large crowd is expected.

disappeared for a time, but they were soon reformed again. There were delays in handling some of those who appeared. Many were not on the registry lists and delays followed and lines formed while they were making out affidavits testifying to their rights to vote.

Will Give Benefit

For V. F. W. Post

Next week has been set aside as Benefit Week by the Egyptian Theater, Cynwyd, for the Miller-Merkle Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Lower Merion and Narberth. Twenty-two thousand tickets have been distributed all over Lower Merion and Narberth, four to 10 to each household, and returns are requested early next week to H. J. Carter, adjutant; Daniel L. Hickey, commander, or any other member of the post.

Conrad Nagel and Greta Garbo will be seen in "The Mysterious Lady" Monday and Tuesday; Constance Talmadge will star in "Breakfast at Sunrise" the next two days, and a special program has been arranged for Friday and Saturday as well.

Proceeds from the six-day benefit performance will be devoted, according to Commander Hickey, to a fund to provide for equipment for the new post and for a sinking fund for a headquarters. The veterans held a meeting Wednesday night in the Woman's Club, Cynwyd, through courtesy of the club.

Planning Bazaar

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church have decided upon the dates of November 30 and December 1 on which to hold their second annual bazaar, the location to be in the Caldwell Building on Haverford avenue.

There will be for sale needlework, novelties, household linens, home-made cakes and pies, groceries, delicatessen goods and candy.

Anyone attending their bazaar last year will remember the prices as very reasonable. It will afford the residents of Narberth the opportunity to pick up Christmas gifts at a lower rate and to avoid the crowds of the city.

Advertising pays. Try it and see.

year, and although a program is always planned, they are of an informal nature, and round tables furnish ideas and suggestions and frequently provide answers to the numerous problems that are more or less common to all libraries.

"Ten years ago the Bala-Cynwyd Library Association was hostess upon a similar occasion. At that time the meeting was held in the lecture room of the Church of the Covenant. It is with a deep feeling of satisfaction, pride and gratitude that next Wednesday the association will be able to receive the visitors and extend a cordial welcome to everybody in its own beautiful Memorial Library building, reads the announcement of the meeting.

"This meeting offers an opportunity to become better acquainted with library service in general, the difficulties that every library meets, as well as the encouragements. It will be a worthwhile meeting to anyone interested in libraries, and a large attendance is desired."

Defeated by Abington, 12-0, L. M. High Prepares for Norristown Tomorrow

Lower Merion High lost another important Suburban League football game Saturday at Ardmore when it bowed to Abington 12 to 0. Captain Kern, of the Abington team, lead his mates through a hard-fought game to a well-earned victory, and in the waning moments of the fourth quarter made victory certain by running 86 yards off tackle for the touchdown.

The work of Edward Peters was again the most pleasing for Coach Adam and his assistants, and Perch Scott and Albert Mandes continued their good work on defense. Lower Merion went into the game considerably weakened by the absence of Ernle Mandes, stellar halfback, and Lard Cunningham and Henderson Beatty, tackle and guard respectively of the first string line-up.

Cunningham did get into the game, but should not have been called upon on account of his injured shoulder. He could not do his best work, but he aided considerably on the defense. Beatty played the last two minutes of the game but was too ill to get going right.

These facts do not take from the credit due to the fine work of the Abington team, for the visitors out-classed the Main Line team all the way through the game. Lower Merion had an uphill fight, tried desperately to win, but could not.

Elmore and Parks Star.

Captain Elmore and Keith Parks shared the work at quarterback, both doing well. Little passing was tried by either team on account of the rain and slippery ball. Most of the game was a succession of off-tackle work and line bucks. Abington made repeated first downs through the line, but Lower Merion did not have the same good fortune. The longest run made by a Maroon back was on the first play of the game following the kick-off, when Peters carried the ball through center for 20 yards.

Coach Adam is working hard with the team this week getting it ready for the crucial games coming with Norristown tomorrow and Radnor three weeks hence. If Lower Merion wins against Norristown and Radnor, the season will be a success despite the two early season losses.

Norristown, to visit Ardmore for the first time in years tomorrow, is an unknown quantity this year, but Radnor is still unbeaten and it will take all the Lower Merion team can muster to defeat it. Upper Darby High, which sandwiches in between these two in a game at Lower Merion, has improved considerably in the last three weeks and may be expected to push Lower Merion to the limit.

Play Norristown 2:30 P. M.

The game with Norristown begins at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon. Two thousand extra seats have been placed on the field for the unusually large crowd expected to attend the big home game of the season. Norristown has already disposed of 2000 tickets and is reported to be seeking more. Tickets will be held till the last minute for Main Line sport fans at the following locations:

Cynwyd—King's and French's drug stores.

Narberth—Shea's drug store.

Ardmore—West's and Harper's drug stores and Slavin's sporting goods store.

Bryn Mawr—Moore's, Graff's and Kindt's drug stores.

Rosemont—Prickett's drug store.

NEW BOOKS

Fine Assortment Await Patrons of Library.

Among the 40 new books purchased by the Narberth Community Library during the past month and now ready for distribution, are 14 non-fiction books which represent the cream of the publishers lists.

Two books-of-the-month appear the non-fiction list, "Hunger Fighters" and "Whither Mankind." The former is a graphic account, as interesting as a novel, of the struggle of scientists to increase the food supply; while the second is a symposium by many of the best thinkers and writers of the day, both English and American, on the outlook for the race. A monumental two volume life of Lincoln appears on the list which no true admirer of that great American will want to miss. Edna St. Vincent Millay's latest volume "The Buck in the Snow" will be eagerly sought after by readers of the King's Henchman and her other poems. "Leonardo the Florentine" is said by most critics to be the most fascinating and readable book as well as an accurate and scholarly work on one of the greatest figures of the Renaissance.

By way of flavor to the list, there are two books on Russia, one by the wife of Sinclair Lewis, and the other on the great figure of present day Russia, Lenin. And for seekers of the exotic there is "The Fringe of the Moslem World."
